about the campsite

This friendly, generously sized village has an easy-going nature that quickly calms even the most frazzled visitors. Its location, within the shade and sanctuary of a one hundred acre forest, instantly conveys a feeling of peace and wellbeing. But don't get too chilled out, or you'll miss Oasis Village's first class sports facilities - including a water park with lazy river, ideal for floating away any remaining cares you may have.

At the heart of the campsite is the traditionally styled bar, a great place to meet new friends, or end another blissful day in the Côte d'Azur sun. Parking is kept separate from the pitches, ensuring that the paths which criss-cross the park are traffic-free and safe. Wander over to the main site and enjoy a meal on the restaurant's outdoor terrace or simply stretch out on your own terrace, and fill your lungs with that fragrant, South of France air.

For a closer look at the Med, take the Aquavision d'Agay - an underwater viewing trip on a glass-bottomed boat. Visit the Roman town of Fréjus, and learn of the area's history at its excellent Musée Archéologique, with its rich collection of Roman remains. Head inland to Grasse, and you're in lavender and perfume country. Take the road from Castellane as it wanders through woods and fields of the heady purple shrub, wind your windows down and inhale the soothing aromas. Aromatherapy doesn't get better than this! For a great panorama of this sublime coastline, climb to the summit of the Roquebrune Mountain and views of the Riviera open out below you.
